SELF PAY PATIENTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO DENY THEIR HEALTH INSURANCE COMPANY ACCESS TO THEIR PATIENT HEALTH INFORMATION. Some medications as well as mental health visits may require a prior authorization in order for your insurance company to pay for them. In order to complete a prior authorization, insurance companies may request treatment records or a letter of necessity which usually requires disclosure of sensitive personal health information. As a self paying patient, you have the right to deny your insurance company access to those records unless you are submitting claims for reimbursement or expecting them to pay for a medication related to your treatment at this office. If you do not want your health insurance company to have access to your personal health information, please let us know so you can fill out the proper form. Otherwise please sign below.

I authorize the office of Trent C. Holmberg, MD to release any personal health information necessary, including progress notes if necessary, to process claims or complete prior authorizations requested by my insurance company or a pharmacy.
